now pending providing that the amount called for, $2,000,000 shall be appropriated for the construction of the fortifications. It is possible that the committee may report the bill with these amendments. Senator Mitchell hopes that a shorter time will be fixed as the engineers have recently informed him that the project could be completed in 1893.

It would be very early in 1892. He would be satisfied though to see the bill pass the house even in its amended form believing that the conference would shorten the time limit. Had the boat railway bill the same or a better time than has been given the Senate and the House? It is to be hoped that once sixteen states favor the bill and nearly a dozen are behind it the Senate will pass the bill in its present form.

Senator Moody of South Dakota says that the riverboat bill will be introduced from the house, will be amended in regard to the Upper Missouri or the states of South Dakota, North Dakota and Montana will furnish six votes in the senate to cut down some of the other sections of the country. The bill will be introduced in the Senate with only $100,000 for improvement is very difficult to the men from the states which the river traverses.

Representative Vandever of California, appeared before the house committee on foreign affairs this morning to advocate the adoption of his joint resolution requesting the president to open negotiations with Mexico for the promotion of commercial and friendly relations and for the adjustment of disputed boundaries. The committee on foreign affairs in the Senate, which settled state affairs in the zone bills, pointed out the necessity for speed adjustment of the boundary question and referred to the increasing number of illegal entries of Chinese laborers into the country through the suddenly settled by negotiations with the Mexican government through the medium of a commission to be appointed by the president. This commission could also ascertain and construe the meaning of existing treaties and make necessary provisions for reforming them.

The senate last week spent considerable time discussing the house bill to transfer the revenue marine service from the treasury department to the navy department. The bill offers additional compensation of $137,000 a year to officers of the revenue marine who are transferred to the navy. Some of them would be promoted and many retired. At present there are thirty-six vessels in the service, although some of them are extremely small, little more than a cabin cruiser. All the men in the service are captains in the service who are over 62 years of age and who would under the pending bill be retired.

A caucus of democratic senators was held this morning and a resolution adopted to appoint a committee to take charge of the interests of the minority in the matter of legislation.

As soon as the bill admitting Idaho passes the senate and the president signs it, the state will be without representation in the national congress. Prof. T. Draper, who was elected to represent it will be selected out of office, although there is an impression here that he will come back to Washington as one of the United States senators. The state legislature meets at Dubois as soon as the state constitution is ratified. The bill will be sent to the state convention before the state is admitted when as he will not be a member of the house he will depart from Idaho. The state constitution provides that an election shall be held as soon as the state is admitted. Governor Scott says he will not delay matters, but will at once designate a day for the election of state officers and legislature. It is generally believed that the present governor will also be sent to Washington as a United States senator, in company with Dubois.

IN THE SENATE

World's Fair Bill Passed After Some Speeches Supposed to Be Witty.

Washington, April 21.—In the senate Rangan introduced a bill to repeal all laws for the retirement of army and navy officers from active service on pay.

Plumb introduced a concurrent resolution directing the secretary of the treasury to purchase and coin silver bullion to the maximum amount authorized by the act of February 28, 1878, and gave notice that he would ask for its consideration to-morrow by the senate.

The world's fair bill was taken up. As amended by the senate committee it provided for a naval review in the New York harbor in April, 1883, and the unsealing of a statue of Columbus in Washington.

Vest asked whether there had been in the whole contest for the fair anything that elevated or dignified the American character at home or abroad. If they were to assume a patriotic stand-point or if the idea was to illustrate our nationality on the 400th anniversary of America's discovery why was it not done in the name of the people of the United States without squabbles over localities? Why had it been a sort of auction between cities as to which would give the most money and entail the least expense on the government? If it was to be a national fair why did not the committee itself with an overflowing treasury take upon itself the expense of the whole matter? From the beginning it had been simply an advertising scheme and the basis of municipal rivalry between the great cities of the United States.

SAN FRANCISCO April 21—Major Frank McLaughlin one of the directors of the California Athletic Club who has been East endeavoring to make arrangements for a meeting between Sullivan and Jackson, who has returned home. He states that he learned from bull's-eyes and backsliders that the champion is very anxious for a meeting between Jackson and himself and that it should be arranged by the California club but that Sullivan makes post-va demands for a purse of $2,000. He was told by people who were in a position to know what they were talking about that Sullivan was in prime physical condition and that he will have no difficulty in getting rid of any such a fate that he may have accumulated from lack of hard work.

When asked if he thought the club would consent to offer $2,000 for a meeting between Sullivan and Jackson the major said:

It is a big lot of money to offer for such an event. It is too big a target, but you know what a man deserves there's a sort out there now among us, and even if it comes his way, the members of the club will no doubt have won't it deserve the title of the vice-president office is becoming a very interesting

At a meeting of the directors of the California Athletic Club an informal decision was reached to catch Sullivan and Jackson for a purse of $2,000. No decision was reached as regards the time the fight will take place, but the general opinion seemed to be four or five months. The proposition will probably be brought up before the all club to-morrow night for ratification on or before the public square, where the old buildings are still standing. The rest of the city is the finest one throughout the West. It will be a great place to live in, and there are many opportunities for business and pleasure. The city will be our chief market and will be the center of the trade of the West. Our business will be the same as that of our depositors at the time the company was formed. We have been exerting every effort to get an acre enough to accommodate all the people who have come to us, and the increase is so great that they have to go to the other side of the river when they want to go to the public places. The objects of the government and the department of the government are to encourage the growth and development of the country, and to make it a thoroughly organized and incorporated community. The committee on the signatures of the members of the Oregon State Legislature, who voted for the organization of the state, have appointed a committee to look after the welfare of the state, and to see that the money raised by the state is used for the benefit of the people. The committee has been formed, and the members are working hard to see that the money is used for the benefit of the people.

NEW ASTORIA.

NEW ASTORIA has deep water frontage and good anchorage, and a harbor well sheltered from dangerous winds. Look at this map and see why the Astoria & South Coast Railway Co., and the Albany & Astoria Railroad Co., have selected terminal shipping facilities here. Only 70 miles more to be graded to connect New Astoria with the great Southern Pacific Railway system. Send for descriptive circular and map of New Astoria. Only a few years ago a block in Spokane Falls was offered for $300, it is now reported to be worth $300,000. New Astoria will surely have as rapid growth as any city in the Northwest. Make a thorough investigation and act accordingly.
